

What does globalization mean to you?

MORRISTOWN

Directed by Ann Lewis
60 minutes
In Spanish and English with subtitles

Friday
March 23
7 p.m.

Resource Center of the
Americas
3019 Minnehaha Ave. S.,
Minneapolis

Screening is free and open to the public

What effect is globalization – and the waves of immigration it often compels – having on communities? In this hour-long documentary, director Ann Lewis chronicles nearly a decade of change in Morristown, Tennessee, through interviews with displaced or low-wage Southern workers, Mexican immigrants, and workers and families impacted by globalization. The film shows how working-class people in Mexico and eastern Tennessee are caught in the throes of massive economic change, challenging their assumptions about work, family, nation and community. "Morristown" replaces "Five Factories: Worker Control in Venezuela," which originally was scheduled for March 23. A copy of "Five Factories" could not be obtained; film series organizers regret any inconvenience this may cause.

Part of the 2006-2007 Labor & Community Film Series

Sponsored by Labor Education Service, University of Minnesota
Co-sponsored with the Resource Center of the Americas

For a complete film series schedule and more information, go to www.laboreducation.org

What does globalization mean to you?

MORRISTOWN

Directed by Ann Lewis
60 minutes
In Spanish and English with subtitles

Friday
March 23
7 p.m.

Resource Center of the Americas
3019 Minnehaha Ave. S.,
Minneapolis

Screening is free and open to the public

What effect is globalization – and the waves of immigration it often compels – having on communities? In this hour-long documentary, director Ann Lewis chronicles nearly a decade of change in Morristown, Tennessee, through interviews with displaced or low-wage Southern workers, Mexican immigrants, and workers and families impacted by globalization. The film shows how working-class people in Mexico and eastern Tennessee are caught in the throes of massive economic change, challenging their assumptions about work, family, nation and community. "Morristown" replaces "Five Factories: Worker Control in Venezuela," which originally was scheduled for March 23. A copy of "Five Factories" could not be obtained; film series organizers regret any inconvenience this may cause.

Part of the 2006-2007 Labor & Community Film Series

Sponsored by Labor Education Service, University of Minnesota
Co-sponsored with the Resource Center of the Americas

For a complete film series schedule and more information, go to www.laboreducation.org